Astonishing is only one of the words that occur to one in connection with Thomson Hudson's announcement that he will recommend Willard Branson, Salinas-Monterey insurance man who lives in Carmel Valley, for appointment to the county planning commission.

Mr. Hudson will not take office as supervisor until January 6. By that time, we trust, outgoing supervisor, Arch Balchin, will have recommended a replacement on the planning commission for Thomas Elston, whose resignation is effective January 1. Mr. Elston has urged that the appointment of his replacement be made at the supervisors' meeting December 17 so that the new man can sit in as an observer at the planning commission meeting of December 18.

We do not know Mr. Branson, whom Mr. Hudson has so precipitately named as his candidate for appointment to the planning commission. He may be a very able man and we sympathize with him if Mr. Hudson's premature assumption of authority should be a cause of embarrassment to him. Nevertheless, we urge that Mr. Balchin act on Mr. Elston's suggestion.

All Monterey has been agog for ten days over 80 Mexican angels painted by Carmel's Erica Franke as Christmas decorations for Alvarado Street lamp posts. Some Montereynos do not like them because their brown faces and gaudy Mexican-Indian robes are outside their experience of angels. The more sophisticated citizens find the angels fresh and charming. Echoes of the controversy, sounding on this side of the hill, have lured Carmelites to Alvarado Street to see for themselves. One of them was Dora Hagemeyer, Pine Cone Poetry Editor. We quote her below.

HOW THE ANGELS CAME TO MONTEREY

Have you seen the angels
All up and down the street?
The town is full of angels
And Christmas is complete.
But when they saw the angels
The people shook their heads
"Not my idea of angels
One busy shopper said.
The angels standing there so still
Without an answering word
Looked down upon the strife they caused
Amazed with what they heard.
Symbols of love, they held their peace;
But, oh, they almost smiled
On hearing "What are angels?"
From a little wondering child.
Dora Hagemeyer

The pageant will be given at 2:35 in the afternoon for children only and at 8:00 o'clock in the evening for the general public. The admission will be free.

This year the Christmas pageant will be a series of tableaux portraying the arrival of the Blessed Infant. The cast, under the direction of Joseph Broadman is: narrator, Frank Bucher; Prophet Isaiah, Leonard Wolff; Mary, Pam Petersen; Joseph, Randy Bishop; voice of angel, Jeannie Eagleton; King Herod, John Wilkin.

The three kings are Jim Pruitt, Tom Tribby and Ronald Barker. Page von Loben Sels, Keith Kneedler and Barbara Cooke will play the parts of the three shepherds.

The sets are made and changed by Mr. Kenneth Weise's fast-working stage crew: Doyle Clayton, John Sullivan, Jim Pruitt, Maurice Woulf and Ronnie Barker. Cathy Dancy and Paul Rice are in charge of the curtain, properties and lights. The program was designed by Randy Bishop.

A verse choir under the direction of Mrs. Beatrice Rea will accompany the narrator. The choir includes Diane Whelan, Maurice Woulf, Karen Reid, Peggy Newton, Joan Willicombe, Rachel Hair. (Continued on Page Three)

August Nieto To Serve 2nd Term As Business Pres.

Carmel Business Association members last night returned to office last year's officers. Serving for the 1957-58 term will be August Nieto, president; George Yates, vice-president; Arne Halle, secretary; and Lloyd Weer, treasurer. New executive board member is Dale Leidig with Mark Raggett, Lloyd Weer, J. O. Handley and Arne Halle re-elected for a two-year term. Holdover executive board members are Ralph Castagna, Robert Spencer, George Yates, August Nieto and Corum Jackson. Mrs. Pauline Wells was chairman of this year's nominating committee.

Ernest Morehouse, chairman, gave the traffic committee report (published in the Pine Cone November 29) at last night's meeting at La Playa Hotel. A letter from the city council commending the committee's work was read to (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Planning Board City Council Ban Motels In C-2

Last night, in joint meeting, the city council and planning commission set rigid restrictions on dwelling units in the C-2 (light industry and commercial services) zone, to be incorporated in the planning commission's interim ordinance.

The only type living unit that will be permitted will be a second story apartment of no less than four rooms: bedroom, bath, kitchen and living room.

Off-street parking must be provided for each unit, in 40-60 ratio; 400 square feet of parking and planting for every 600 square feet of dwelling space.

The planning commission prefaced their report to the council with a statement of their objective: "To accomplish the purpose of controlling population density and the intensity of land development."

The real purpose of the commission is to make it impossible for Junipero Street to become a motel row. Much of C-2 is on Junipero Street, which has been designated in the proposed master plan as the main entrance to Carmel. The planning commission's original policy was to have new construction of any kind of living unit or retail shop in the C-2 zone as incompatible with the semi-industrial commercial service uses for which it has been set aside and several months ago refused a building permit for construction of a building in the area with stores downstairs, apartments upstairs. When the decision was appealed, the council over-ruled the commission. Though the council agreed with the planning commission that it didn't want to see motels crowd everything else out of the C-2 zone, it did not consider the shops-apartment combination (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger Quits Commission

Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger resigned from the Carmel Planning Commission at the joint meeting of city council and commission last night.

In a letter read by City Clerk Larry Rose, she said:

"It is with deepest regret that I write to tell you of my resignation. I am anxious to terminate my service at an early date, but want this at your convenience and I hope not later than February 1, 1957.

"Lack of vitality and endurance rather than serious illness compels me to make this decision. In order to properly carry out the duties of a member of the Carmel Planning Commission one should and must be familiar with present day planning in Monterey, Carmel Valley, and the County as well. The ever increasing volume of work is more than I dare attempt.

"It has been a rewarding experience and a real privilege to serve over a period of years beginning in June of 1948 with the dedicated members of the Planning Commission.

"I want to thank you and the members of the Council who appointed me to this work."

Public Hearings Set On Committee Report For Zoning Highway No. 1

If the recommendations of the special committee are accepted, restrictions will be tightened on Highway No. 1 from the Highlands to the county line so that the scenic values will have a better chance of survival.

One important suggestion is that single family dwelling sites be held to a minimum of one acre, business and recreational development be confined to two specified areas.

The county planning commission, receiving the report at its November meeting, set January 29 and February 26, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, for public hearings before incorporating it into the county zoning ordinance.

The committee, headed by Carmel Martin consisted of Bruce Crane, Charles Fuller, Nicholas Roosevelt, Malcolm Millard, Jo Thorne and Walter Tavernetti. Martin and Tavernetti were members of the planning commission which put the first zoning restrictions on the Highway No. 1 country in the early 1920s.

The findings and recommendations follow:

As a result of the data compiled through the numerous studies undertaken and the careful evaluation of this material during the

YOUTH-CENTER TALENT AND DOGS, TOO

Dogs of the 25th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon at Fort Ord, with their handlers, are giving a five-minute demonstration on the stage of Sunset Auditorium during the Carmel Youth Center Christmas Capers on December 20, starting at 8:00 o'clock.

Field work by the dogs is one act of an hour long, free variety show being prepared by Youth Center members as a Christmas present to all Carmelites. Free candy for everyone is to be the gift of the Carmel Kiwanis Club.

ALADDIN IN CARMEL

Mr. Winter, the proprietor of THE VILLAGE JEWELER, has received the following clipping, written by a roving reporter who was greatly taken with the array of wondrous things in his Dolores Street shop.

"Aladdin, lost in his cave and putting out his hand to the trees which bore the fruits of glorious color and fashioned of precious stones, was no more astounded than is the Carmel visitor who just happens into the 'ear-ring' shop. It can't be, one thinks, on being told that there is a place whose sole stock in trade is ear-rings. It is altogether unlikely that a merchant would say, 'This one thing I do', and then stick to ear-rings, of all things.

"And it isn't quite that way, really, because there are a few—a very few—other bits of jewelry to be found in this little cave. But these are far outshone by the main item, a piece of resistance which whets but never satisfies the appetite.

"Recently a New York salesman unloaded his sample cases before the doorway of this small establishment. He came as missionary to unknown parts, for isn't Carmel, California, a tiny hinterland village which tries hard but doesn't quite know how? On stepping inside, he fell back, dismayed. 'Oh, no!' was his shout of disbelief. There was no need for missionary work here—not in his department, anyhow.

"The Village Jeweler, whose astute owners have collected all this loot and put it under one roof, literally has the largest and most surprising display of ear-rings in the United States. No foolin'. And it takes a mighty stout-hearted woman to pass up the feast.

"Did your grandmother own some beautifully wrought bracelets of soft gold, with classic designs running through the pattern? And, having had these appraised, have you taken them down to the bank for safe keeping? You can match them here in ear-rings, and at a painless price. Persons knowing the value of Grandma's keep-sakes will be properly impressed at the ear-rings you have chosen to go with them, and you can save the price of an extra safety deposit box.

"Every color of the spectrum, softly muted, is here, in ascending or descending scale, as to hues and shades and tints. If it's azure or lapis Lazuli or rose or emerald or amethyst or topaz or gold or silver you prefer, you mention it. At once you find yourself in the predicament of the fellow who likes pie and is let loose in the cafeteria where the chef has out-done himself this day with apple and peach and cherry and lemon and chocolate and gooseberry and blueberry and raisin and custard and currant and squash and mince. He can't eat them all but he's happier than larks in the pop-corn.

"There are whole trays of each color, quite by itself. And these range in style from what you would wear to your Grand-Aunt Emma's tea for the ladies' knitting group to something dazzling for a night on the town in company with six drunken sailors. You accept a lapful of jewels from the trusting soul who is the proprietor and have yourself a big time. All HE has to do is hope your check won't bounce.

"There is something barbaric in almost every female. She 'hates' jewelry, maybe, but when she says 'jewelry' she almost never means little things to stick in her ears. Count the number of women you see who are not wearing brooches, bracelets, rings, necklaces or tiaras but who are wearing ear-rings. That's because The Little Woman feels kind of undressed without them. The Village Jeweler is for the likes of her. And it's worth the trip—from ANY distance."—Adv.

Boyer Students Give Pleasure in Recital

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

At the Carmel Craft Studios, Gilbert Boyer presented five advanced piano pupils in a well-chosen program on December 2. The recital was public and an interested audience was present. I missed the Bach and Brahms selections given by Jim Carpenter from Fort Ord, but was told he obtained a good tonal effect in the Brahms. Molto allegro from Beethoven's Sonata No. 7 and the Chopin Nocturne in E minor were played by Mrs. Marion Chilson who is to be commended for pursuing her study together with housekeeping, which, indeed, can be done if people have enough desire, though too often make excuses of occupation for lack of effort. No study, however, is more rewarding than music which contributes as nothing else does to individual and community development. Judy Paplow, formerly a pupil of Robert Forbes and attending the Monterey Peninsula College was the best known performer, as she has several times appeared locally as accompanist. She played the Mozart Sonata in C major with excellent execution and received much applause. Herbert Myers, a thirteen-year-old boy, youngest of the group, earned a special place on the program for his sympathetic rendering of Grieg's Schumann, Grieg's charming Nocturne, and Copland's Cat and the Mouse. His touch and expression reflected a real musical nature—that which belongs inherently and which always reaches the listener. It is understood his mother first taught him and later a Mrs. Shirley of Los Angeles, before he came to the Peninsula. Mr. Boyer is fortunate in having this young man to instruct, for he has the makings of a pianist. He was quite independent of the written music which some of the others were not. However, insufficient time often prevents complete memorizing.

Edythe Plamondon Is Creator Of Holbein Window Display

People are ganging up three deep before the show window of Irving Lundborg Company on Dolores Street. The stopper of free flow of traffic to the post office is a group of dolls in Henry VIII costume and setting. There is a manorial hall with great fireplace, paneled walls and family portraits. Two servants drag in the vale log while family and guests, in velvet, satin and pearls, look on.

Edythe Plamondon is the creator of the authentic Sixteenth Century display. She has spent 10 months on it, referring to reproductions of Holbein and Hals paintings as source material.

"I tried to get the feeling of an oil painting in the display," she told the Pine Cone.

The background set and table were constructed by Cort Landon, Carmel sign painter, from designs by Mrs. Plamondon. The bread and fruit used in the three-dimensional picture are made of pie dough which she colored with vegetable dyes.

Materials for the elaborate clothing and jewelry of the hand-made dolls were "salvaged everywhere, mostly during lunch hours."

Mrs. Plamondon is mother of two sons, Peter and Paul, and the holder of two jobs. Mornings she is assistant bookkeeper for Sade's Restaurant. Afternoons she works in the office of Dr. Ernest K. Stratton.

Many evenings she spent in the Harrison Memorial Library reading about the customs of the era she portrays in her display and augmenting the knowledge of the costumes of the time, other than what she had gained from the art of the period.

Edythe Plamondon discovered her interest in making period clothed dolls about two and half years ago. One evening her sons were playing with clay, creating figures. She joined them and they all concentrated on modeling cats. Then she tried some heads, and later got the idea of putting the heads on stuffed flexible cotton bodies which could be bent to assume action positions. Next step, after body models were perfected, was to dress the dolls.

Last year she exhibited her first Christmas scene, three Dickens carolers, which Paul Swanson placed in Sade's.

This year Mrs. Plamondon added clay modeled hands to her figures. There are 11 dolls in the Christmas scene, in action positions, each with a face created for the character the doll portrays and authentically costumed. The whole is a picture of a 16th century family and their servants rejoicing as the Yule log is brought into the home for Christmas.

Hearings Set On Com. Report For Highway 1 Zoning

and recommendations as a general guide for the orderly development of the Coastal region.

FINDINGS

1. The area is too large and undeveloped to make other than general land use commitments or recommendations at this time.

2. As no community pattern exists, it is impossible (practically) to recommend future commercial (including resort and motel uses) zones or areas specifically.

3. The Big Sur District is the recreational hub of the study area; it has the natural attributes desirable for this use. This is a necessary and desirable use and should be expanded.

4. Because of the natural rugged terrain involved it is impractical, with few exceptions, to consider other than large lot size development.

5. Lack of water will provide a deterrent to land development.

6. The few areas which are adaptable for smaller size lots are, obviously, also usable for uses other than single family dwellings.

7. Existing zoning of 6000 square feet residential per building site is unrealistic and impractical along most of this coastal area.

8. Small lot development would in most cases, desecrate and destroy the desirable feature of the area.

9. Areas which are presently zoned other than single family to a large degree form no pattern and have no apparent reason for existence other than owner application or request. It is very questionable that a great number of these areas could be developed in the manner they are zoned.

10. The area along Highway No. 1 between Point Sur property and the Big Sur River could be developed into an average urban development. This would be the only practical site of this nature along the entire plan area.

11. Future land development including future acquisition and improvement of beaches and parks will create need for widening and improvement of existing highway facilities.

12. The area under study is unsurpassed in its scenic characteristics.

13. The design control has proved highly satisfactory in providing development and improvements which are in keeping with natural terrain and scenic beauty of the area.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That Highway No. 1 will be given special treatment if at some future date it becomes necessary that it be widened or re-located. It should be developed as a scenic way with adequate landscaping and treatment in keeping with its scenic character.

Sufficient turn out locations should be provided allowing the many who wish to do so, an opportunity to stop and enjoy the natural grandeur of the coastline. Wayside rest areas should be incorporated into the scenic way program.

2. That the Big Sur area generally between the Big Sur River Mouth and Post's Summit be developed recreationally, allowing, with certain reservations, resort hotels, camping areas, picnic grounds, and trailer facilities.

It is suggested that additional zoning regulations be provided which would limit the number of living units which would be allowed on each acre of land. This form of density control would protect the natural environs of the area and assure the preservation of its scenic qualities.

3. That future resort hotels, which provide accessory services such as restaurants, novelties, magazines, etc., for the convenience of their guests and commercial establishments which satisfy the needs of local or traveling public should be considered on their individual merit; however, their location should be carefully considered in order that such uses not have a detrimental effect on surrounding properties or the area in general and should not be located in a manner which will create a traffic hazard or depreciate the natural values.

4. That one acre minimum building site regulations be established for single-family dwellings in the coastal area. This standard is selected because of the generally rugged and high gradient terrain involved and because of the one acre building site's adaptability to such conditions. Lot size, to a great extent, should be based on the terrain and its ability to meet minimum health and sanitation standards as well as being in harmony with surrounding development.

It is not the intent that this regulation be inflexible; as the different areas develop, special consideration should be given to lot size based on individual study. It may be desirable or necessary to increase the minimum require-

FREE BABY SITTING FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Girl Scout Troop 47 is offering free baby sitting at the Girl Scout House on the evenings of December 21, 22 from 7:00-9:30 o'clock for children ages 2-10. There will be adult supervision also.

The baby sitting is a community gift from the Scouts, freeing parents to Christmas shop together.

Parents leaving children at the Scout House on this occasion are asked to have each child bring along a favorite toy.

ment or it may be reasonable and practical to reduce the standard in some locales, thereby meeting the need of the area as well as protecting its natural scenic and recreational values.

5. That if the need and demand becomes apparent for urban development, the area generally between Point Sur and the Big Sur River Mouth be developed as such limited urban area. This is the only area which should be indicated as suitable for providing the many commercial services both retail and wholesale required by an urban community.

6. That all areas which might, through undesirable development, have an adverse effect on the coastal region, be placed under protective regulations of a type which are in keeping with its scenic character.

Strange Bedfellows Is Too Funny To Miss

By MAX TADLOCK

Theatre-in-the-round has some obvious disadvantages but certainly none of these are apparent in the current production of Strange Bedfellows at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. In fact, no other medium could have shown off to advantage the magnificent period costumes worn by the cast. From the collection of Gene McCabe, all items worn by the cast were authentic even to the shoes, petticoats, corsets, and accessories; and according to the program notes, there are 42 costume changes in this production.

Not at all suffering by comparison with this sartorial brilliance is the cast or the direction. Barbara Horder West has kept a tight rein on one of the finest casting jobs to grace Peninsula stages for a long time. In fact, this is one of those plays it is difficult to review without just working down through the cast in order of appearance because there are no weak or spotty performances.

Edgar Bryant as Senator Cromwell in whose Nob Hill mansion the action takes place is a bellowing western-type elder statesman to perfection. Roxana Belland as his wife, a patient Griselda in the first act and an active Suffragette in the last, delivers some of the most outrageously funny lines to be heard here.

If you haven't already guessed, the period of the play is 1896 and the theme is the war of the sexes with the vote for women as the cause celebre. Leading the fight for the women is the famous suffrage leader Clarissa Blynn Cromwell, newly wedded to the senator's son Matthew. Valerie Furlong and Dick Lieberth are elegant, handsome, and inspired in the roles.

Aiding the rest of the ladies in her own confused fashion, Addie, the senator's daughter, as portrayed by Lanore Shager, is the perfect comedy counterfoil to her English husband, Gifford, who was "imported duty free." Gene McCabe as Gifford is undoubtedly one of the top performers in a top-notch show.

Doris Nicita and Joan Jones played elegant ladies too pure to want to frequent the polls. And Gracie Brueck as the grey colorless maid Beulah added a delightful touch to a household of real characters.

Three of the best of these characters were the juveniles. Young Jon Thomsen is the archetype of the American boy below adolescent level, and Kit Jones, as the adolescent suitor of the senator's granddaughter, gave a sensitive performance to a difficult role. The real star of the evening, if one performer shone more brightly than another, was Miss Peggy McCulley. Her sense of timing and stage presence make one think that here is a coming comedienne to watch. Let's have more of her.

For Circle Theatre habitués, I need only mention that Babs Richardson plays the part of Mrs. Tillie Sparker, San Francisco's most influential call-house madam, and that Gene Eplett plays the milk-sop mayor of that fair city. These two wonderful pros would make any performance ring with laughter, and that they do.

A period piece such as Strange Bedfellows needs careful set design. Ralph Broman with Nancy Lofton's help on properties achieved a fine sense of Victoriana.

Although the play will run the next five week ends, Friday through Sunday, I recommend you call for reservations ahead. It's too funny to chance missing.

Annie Burgess

Miss Annie Sprague Burgess died on Friday morning in a local hospital after a brief illness. Each winter for many years Miss Burgess had come from Plymouth, Massachusetts, to spend six months in Carmel, accompanied by her sisters Miss Mary and Miss Susan H. Burgess. She arrived here this year on November 1.

Miss Burgess was born in Plymouth on May 28, 1868, descendant of New England ancestors who came to this country on the Mayflower. Members of the family have resided in Plymouth continuously ever since. Miss Burgess was an elementary school teacher until her retirement some years ago.

Besides her sisters, Miss Burgess is survived by a brother, Walter H. Burgess of Agoura, California.

Private funeral services were held on Saturday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium. Interment will be in the family plot in Plymouth.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

CARMEL HOOP SQUADS UPSET BY GONZALES AND MONTEREY

Elusive victory number one slipped by the Carmel High basketball teams last week as the Gonzales Spartans double-teamed the lightweight and varsity squads in a pair of league jousts and the Monterey Treadadores clipped the Padres in a triple-header on Tuesday night. Four of the five tilts were closely contested and eventually decided on the free-throw line with the opponents showing more accuracy than the red and gray squads.

A rangy and fast Gonzales lightweight crew stomped on the Little Padres, 47 to 17, in Friday's opener at the new Gonzales pavilion. The visiting Padres proved to be perfect guests for the memorable occasion, dropping the varsity tussle, 40 to 36, and making the evening a complete success for the Spartans. Looking to be a definite threat for the B division lightweight crown, the Gonzales Babes broke out to a 22-11 halftime lead and never looked back as their superior speed and height wore down the smaller Padrecitos. Jamie Holman and Jim Lee provided the light scoring punch for the Padrecitos, Holman hitting for 5 markers and Lee chipping in 4. Pete Willcox, slender sophomore, played an outstanding defensive game for the Little Padres and should be a valuable cog in the Rainer machine before the season is finished.

Carmel's varsity took to the new Gonzales gym like it was made for them in the first half, breaking to a 13-7 lead in the first quarter and leaving for the halftime intermission with a 21-15 bulge. However, the scrappy Spartans took the play away from the Padres in the second half and as the fourth period started the hosts were in front, 32 to 31. The lead changed hands several times in the final period but the free-throw accuracy of the Spartans paid off for a coveted victory. Ray Garcia, a smooth working forward, led the Spartans in their second half surge, hitting for 11 points in the final 12 minutes. Clyde Klaumann poured through 15 markers to lead the Padre scorers.

THROUGH THE HOOP

A new basketball experience is in store for the Carmel High varsity this week when they travel to Gustine for the three-day Rotary Club tournament. This will be Carmel's first visit to the Gustine tourney and was brought about through Gustine's annual visit to the Carmel hoopfest which is held during the first week in March. The Padres play their first game tonight, meeting host Gustine at 9:00 o'clock. A late game time was arranged for Carmel so the players wouldn't have to miss any school today. The Carmel lads will stay in Gustine for two nights and return late Saturday night. If the Padres win tonight, they will play the winner of the Patterson-Hilmar game at 9:00 o'clock Friday night. If they lose to Gustine, Carmel will play the loser of the Patterson-Hilmar game at 7:00 o'clock Friday night.

A look at the basketball picture on the Monterey Peninsula shows the hoop sport is enjoying a most popular season with more teams participating than ever before. Besides the usual high school and college games there are a host of independent teams taking part in the various recreation leagues throughout the Peninsula. Many well-known college players are currently enjoying a vacation with Uncle Sam at Fort Ord and are being recruited by the local hoop teams. Carmel's little sprouts have a Saturday morning league of their own and go through their paces at the Carmel High gym under the expert tutelage of Henry Overin, ex-Parade all-leaguer. More basketball will be in store for the Carmel players during the Christmas holidays as the gym will be open continuously from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

After four early-season games, Clyde Klaumann, senior forward, is leading the Padre scorers with 41 points. Clyde was pumped through 16 field goals and 9 charity tosses to outdistance his nearest teammate by 10 points. The Dawson brothers, Charley and Dale, have each picked up 31 points in four games. On coach Buzz Rainer's lightweight team, it is all Jim Lee, veteran junior guard, who has piled up 39 points against the strong opposition offered by Watsonville, Pacific Grove, Gonzales, and Monterey.

Three interesting games at the Carmel High gym Tuesday night when Monterey High slipped by Carmel in a triple-header. The first game between Carmel's Firehouse Five and the Monterey junior-varsity ended in a 36-36 deadlock. In the overtime period, Monterey pumped in 6 points to zero for the locals and gained a 42-36 verdict. Bill Wallace, Carmel guard, topped all the scorers in this one. The lightweight game was a real thriller as the fighting Padrecitos came from a halftime deficit of 27-11 to tie it up 38 all with eight seconds to play. A Padrecito foul in the final three seconds gave Monterey the necessary free-throw for the win. A standout 19-point performance by Jim Lee highlighted the game. The varsity game was touch-and-go until the final minutes when Monterey pulled away for a 40-32 win. Dale Dawson led all the scorers in this one, banging in 11 points on four field goals and three free throws.

WATER VALVES

The valve with which you are most familiar is the faucet in your home which holds the water back or permits it to flow according to your wishes. But the faucet is only one of a great number of valves in the water system which serves you.

Valves are important items in the operation of a waterworks since they control the volume and direction of water flow from its source to you. Valves represent a substantial investment, their cost varying according to size and type . . . very large ones running as high as the price of an expensive automobile.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

SAN JACINTO TRAMWAY
On Dec. 21 the California State Park Commission will hold a hearing in Sacramento on the question of renewing a contract with the Mount San Jacinto Winter Park Authority which would give that body permission to build a tramway up Mt. San Jacinto in Southern California. The present contract, which has been in effect for the last five years without any construction being started, expires on Dec. 31.

The controversy over the building of this tramway assumed national proportions in 1950 when the U. S. Forest Service held a hearing in Riverside, California, to determine whether it would grant permission for the building of this tramway over a section of its property. National conservation organizations sent representatives to this hearing to protest the proposed tramway and articles about it were published in magazines of national circulation.

Finally in April 1954 the Forest Service announced that it had agreed to a land swap which would give the tramway builders the necessary right-of-way. The Los Angeles Times on April 10, 1954, carried a dispatch from Palm Springs, headquarters of the tram promoters, saying that "the bonding should be completed and first steel erected on the $10 million project early in 1955."

In their letter of Nov. 9, 1956, to the State Park Commission applying for a renewal of contract, the Winter Park Authority says that "the Authority is now advised that the condition of the bond market is such that any sale of bonds before the date of Jan. 1, 1957, is impossible. The Authority therefore feels that the extension requested is essential."

Although the detailed facts in the situation are familiar to the conservation groups opposing the tramway, it might be well to recapitulate them briefly for the benefit of uninformed readers. The Mount San Jacinto Winter Park Authority was set up by an Act of the California Legislature in 1945, signed by Governor Warren in wartime under political pressure after similar bills had been vetoed three times previously by Governor Olson and himself. Its stated purpose is to provide winter sports opportunities for Southern Californians on the slopes of 10,831 feet high Mt. San Jacinto. Subsequently this purpose was proved to be without foundation when leading ski authorities pointed out the unsuitability of the area for skiing.

The tramway, now estimated to cost $13 million, would start at Palm Springs and land at an 8500 foot level on the mountain in San Jacinto State Park. This is a wilderness park, formerly belonging to the Forest Service and acquired by the California State

ISRAELI CONTINUES AT FIRST THEATRE

Disraeli, exciting drama based on England's purchase of the Suez Canal shares in 1875, continues to draw enthusiastic audiences every Friday and Saturday night at the First Theatre, Monterey. Donald Ross in the title role of the Prime Minister of England who buys the shares on his own responsibility, is, in the opinion of many who have spoken to the producer, Dene Denny, doing one of the finest bits of acting ever seen on the Peninsula.

The First Theatre takes its Christmas recess during the next two week ends, the playhouse being dark on the nights of December 21, 22, 28, 29. On December 31, Monday night, the First Theatre will reopen with its famous New Year's Eve performance. In accordance with tradition, on this night all former Troupers of the Gold Coast are invited to drop into the Theatre after 11:00 o'clock, and watch the old year out with the current cast, an occasion on which gaiety and fun reign supreme.

Park Commission in 1933 with the definite understanding that "it will be held as a wilderness reservation for the benefit of the public." There is no question but that the building of the tramway would damage its wilderness setting irreparably. The water problem alone for the 1600 visitors a day expected to arrive on the tramway would in that dry country involve tremendous changes in the landscape and defacement of the scenery by various structures.

Since the Winter Park Authority has been unable so far to sell its bonds, due to widespread recognition of the poor economic quality of the project, conservationists feel that the contract with the State Park Commission should not be renewed. This would most certainly kill the tramway. Conservation groups will be present in force at the hearing to express their opposition and they are asking the general public to back them up with individual letters in protest to the State Park Commission (721 Capitol Ave., Sacramento).

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone

GIRL SCOUTS, BROWNIES ANNOUNCE CAROLING PLANS

Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts will carol the same evening at the Peninsula Community Hospital, the Hospital Annex, the Adams Rest Home and for shut-in persons throughout the town. At 8:30 they will return to the Scout House and have their Christmas party.

Troop 46 is making a special trip to sing at Mayor Horace Lyon's home.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg
Now and then someone describes a book as one you simply can't put down. Generally, you can. But this week we have one you will have difficulty putting down. It is Days to Remember, by John Gunther and Bernard Quint. This is a words and pictures coverage of America from 1945 through 1955, and what a coverage it is! There are more than 400 pictures and 45,000 words, and all of them are interesting.

The Flowers of the Forest sounds like a novel but is not. It is the latest volume in David Garnett's autobiography. Then we have another last volume in a series, which is Boswell in Search of a Wife, edited by Brady and Pottle. This is James Boswell's journal covering the period of his life when he was deciding whom of four eligible women he should marry, and then the months preceding his wedding to Peggy Montgomery. These journals have revealed much of the life of Boswell, and also of his times, which were not too well known heretofore.

Sickles the Incredible, by Swapberg, tells the life story of a man who has been called "the gaudiest American of his day." Here too, is a colorful figure about whom not much has been written. Sickles was a hero of the Civil War, a Congressman, a diplomat, a duelist who killed his rival, and a friend of five Presidents.

At nine years of age, Hal Borland went with his parents to the rolling plains of eastern Colorado. In his new book, High, Wide, and Lonesome, he tells of those early lean years on a new frontier. He says, "... a frontier is never a place; it is a time and a way of life ... frontiers pass, but they endure in their people."

With the holidays approaching, lighter reading seems appropriate, so for next week we have eight new novels. Two of them are mysteries. The Barbarous Coast is by Ross Macdonald, whose real name is Kenneth Millar and his books are cataloged under his real name. The other mystery is by William Gault and is called The Day of the Ram. In this case a Ram is a member of the Los Angeles Rams professional football team.

James Street died in 1954 when he was but 51 years of age. He left five short stories which had within them the elements of a novel. Don Tracy took these stories and wove them together into a novel which has been entitled Captain Little Ax. James Street will always be remembered as the author of the books about the Dabney family, in Oh Promised Land, Tap Roots, and Mingo Dabney. His artistry is at work again for the last time in Captain Little Ax.

Frank Slaughter has just published The Warrior, an historical novel about the Seminole War of 1835. The book was announced pre-publication as The Seminole. If you have been watching for it under its announced title, please take notice of this title change.

DeLuxe Tour is by Frederick Wakeman, who wrote The Hucksters. This time the plot is around a group of nine people on a tour of Europe. A new book by William Saroyan is not a novel but a collection of short stories, which have the magic of the Saroyan touch in every line. The title of the collection is The Whole Voyal.

There are two more novels and two more pieces of non-fiction. If you are too busy to read them during the holidays, you might sign the card lower down, and by the time your name comes up, you will be eager to spend some time with a good book.

Corum Admires Williamsburg

Back from his trip East, Corum Jackson is telling friends this week about his trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, which he especially observed from the standpoint of similar restoration of historic buildings on the Monterey Peninsula.

Impressed with the remarkable accomplishments in Williamsburg, Corum is worried about the advisability of allowing so many tourists to pour through old buildings, such as the Governor's mansion, which he visited on Thanksgiving afternoon when every ten minutes groups of 30 persons were conducted through the house. Also he was told that during July and August 16,000 people visited Williamsburg.

Corum also noted that local craftsmen make exact reproductions of the furniture and glass in the old houses to be sold by the Restoration Committee to finance further restoring of Williamsburg.

Lighter side of Corum's trip was seeing My Fair Lady in New York and in Huntington, West Virginia, his home town, giving a dinner for the 12 girls with whom he had grown up, and their husbands.

"I've always wanted to do this," says Corum, "we had a wonderful time."

Chorus, New Officers for MPVS

Christmas celebration and election of officers brought out an unusually large number of members when Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services held its last meeting of the year on December 7, at the USO, with Mrs. Carl Menneken, president, in the chair.

Decorating the morning coffee table was the traditional "jewel" tree trimmed with costume jewelry, later to be sold at the Thrift Shop, together with the large number of new toys brought by the members.

Preceding the business meeting, the Red Diamond Chorus from Fort Ord's Fifth Division gave a concert which delighted its audience with a program of sacred songs, spirituals, Christmas carols, gay musical comedy numbers and Barber Shop quartet harmonies.

In the election of officers for 1957, Mrs. Carl Menneken was returned to the presidency. Newly elected were Miss Margaret Prosser, vice-president, Mrs. Gilbert Kinney, treasurer, Mrs. Thornton Allen, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Walter Neilsen, recording secretary.

Father Christmas Nesbitt

John Nesbitt is giving his sons Brian and Michael a most enviable Christmas present this year. On Monday evening the two boys, Juniors at Carmel High School, will take a plane to Los Angeles, meet John, and next morning fly with him to New York where each day for a week John has planned surprises for them plus two days in Washington, D.C. Climax of the Father Christmas Nesbitt trip will be Christmas Eve. Mike and Brian will accompany John to the broadcasting studio when he does a special Christmas radio program for Bell Telephone Company, then go to midnight services in a New York cathedral. Early next morning John, Michael and Brian will take the plane for San Francisco, and be home in Carmel in time for Christmas dinner that night.

Still In Japan

Dr. Dexter Whitcomb's family have been hoping that he would be home in time for Christmas, but the latest word from him is that he won't return from Army duty in Japan until January 15, so the family are now facing their second Christmas with Dr. Whitcomb overseas.

Legion Kids Xmas Party

American Legion Post 512 is having a Christmas party at the Legion Hall on the evening of December 20 for members' children under 12 years of age, starting at 7:00 o'clock. Post Commander Jim Kelsey will be Santa Claus and distribute gifts from under the Christmas tree.

Sharon Decorates For Dance

Sharon McClurg is planning decorations for the Monterey Peninsula College annual Christmas formal on Saturday night in Merrill Hall at Asilomar.

Chosen as theme for the party is The Old Lamplighter, and Sharon, with Jacki Lipscom, will decorate the hall with pine boughs and Christmas trees in keeping with the motif, with lanterns to be lit and a reading of the theme song by Devon Hansen.

Square Dance Wedding

Marjorie (Bonnie) Lane of Carmel and Dan Friesen were married on Friday night in the Marina Grange Hall by the Reverend Russell Bisnett before a large group of square-dancing friends.

The bride wore a pale blue nylon ballerina length square-dancing dress, matching shoes and carried a bouquet of pink and aqua carnations centered with a double T, colors and emblem of the Taw Twirlers dance group of which both bride and groom are long-time members.

Given in marriage by her son, Charles Lowell, the bride was attended by her two daughters Marty and Pepper Lane, and Maude Wilmot. Mark Wilmot was best man for the bridegroom, and Bud Markham, president of the Taw Twirlers led the bridal procession down the aisle formed by two lines of Taw Twirlers, dressed for the occasion in their finest dancing clothes.

A reception followed the ceremony to which all peninsula square dancers were invited.

Snow Swirls About Kippy

Kippy Stuart sends a postcard to the Pine Cone from Kenosha, Wisconsin, announcing that she is "up in the snow belt." Last word from Kippy was from the Caribbean where she was enjoying warmth, sugar plantations, and inter-island semi-tropical travel. Now she reports that it is "very cold, with snow swirling down, I adore it."

COLLEGE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Kristine Nelson of Carmel will be a principal soloist: An Angel, when the Monterey Peninsula College Chorus presents a program for Christmas tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Student Union. This is an annual free concert given by the chorus, directed by Dr. Harvey Marshall, and accompanied by Miss Angie Machado of Carmel, instructor in piano at the college, and Mrs. Mary Whitmer, organist.

The program includes The Childhood of Christ by Johann Christoph Bach, son of Johann Sebastian Bach, and The Song of Christmas, written by Ray Ringwald with original music and selected excerpts from 20 songs and carols appropriate to Christmas and verses from the Holy Scriptures.

Mrs. Chambers

Mrs. Christina Chambers died on Wednesday in a local hospital after a long period of failing health. She had been a resident of Carmel Valley for the past nine years. Previous to this time Mrs. Chambers lived in San Francisco.

She was born on August 30, 1876, in North Vernon, Indiana. Her husband, the late John C. Chambers, died in 1948.

Survivors are two daughters, Miss Lucile Chambers who lived in the Valley with her mother, and Mrs. Victor Davis of San Francisco; one granddaughter, Mrs. William Niemi of San Francisco; and three great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Chambers will be conducted Friday morning by the Reverend Harris Pillsbury in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium in Pacific Grove. Interment will be in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to pay tribute to Mrs. Chambers may, if they so desire, give donations in her name to their favorite charity.

Elizabeth Hay

Miss Elizabeth Hay died on December 10 in Corvallis, Oregon, after an illness of five months.

During the 1944-45 school term, under the name Elizabeth Hay Smith, she taught art at both Sunset and Carmel High Schools. Again, in 1948-49, while art teacher Richard Hagadorn was on a year's leave of absence, she taught at Carmel High School. Miss Hay also was art teacher at Alameda High School for many years.

Miss Hay first came to Carmel in 1941 and lived here intermittently during the past 15 years. She was a member of the Carmel Art Association and exhibited her work at the Artists Guild of America and other local galleries as well as in the Bay area. An active member of the Baha'i faith, Miss Hay helped establish this group in Corvallis.

After taking scholarship honors at the California College of Arts and Crafts and work in painting and sculpture at the California School of Fine Arts, Miss Hay studied in New York with Maurice Sterne and Jon Corbino. During two years in Europe, Elizabeth Hay was a student of contemporary painting with Andre L'hoté and Hans Hoffman, later receiving two Carnegie scholarships which enabled her to work under Steinhof in Vienna. She studied sculpture with Ralph Stackpole, Bufano and Puccinelli.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Florence Wilburt and Miss Blossom Hay, both of Corvallis.

CHURCHES*CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings include the following from Isaiah (55:8-11): "For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater: So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (507:24-25): "Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity."

Planning Com. Board City Council Ban Motels in C-2 Zone

"incompatible" with the other uses of the district. Last night's meeting was a formulation in legal language of the council's wishes regarding living units in the C-2 zone. City Attorney John Morse was told to draw up the addition of the interim ordinance for action in the next council meeting.

The planning commission also wanted to include requirement of a two and a half foot set back for planting. This met with objections from Councilman Francis Whitaker who pointed out that Junipero is a 100 foot wide street with projected parkway of trees, and the buildings would not look crowded if they were built up to the property line. He was willing to agree to the set-back requirements if the same requirements were placed on new construction in the C-1 (business) zone.

Mayor Horace Lyon was in favor of establishing requirement set back for all commercial buildings in both zones immediately, but the objection was raised that uniform setbacks would result in uniformity of appearance. An argument developed over whether to make the set-back provisions "average" number of feet. The architect could design buildings so that part might be flush with property line and part as much as five feet back for planting.

Everybody started talking, and Whitaker announced that the meeting had degenerated into a "bull session" and he was going home. Councilman John Chitwood took advantage of Whitaker's comment to grab his hat and the press made restless movements.

The meeting broke up without formal decision on the set-back matter.

Hal Armor Predicts Daily Showers From Now Till Christmas

The Lions-Kiwanis Clubs Christmas tree lot showers their trees daily to keep them fresh and green for your fireside. A thousand silver-tips, which lumbermen call red firs, were cut for them between November 15 and 30 on the northeast slopes of Mount Shasta in Siskiyou County. They range from the little one footers to 45-foot tall beauties. Douglas fir from Montana and Washington state from two to nine feet provide the less expensive and more familiar "old fashioned" yule tree. Del Monte Properties cut 200 Monterey pines for Carmel's merchants, churches and for the lot. These are available at what you wish to pay. Many use them for outside trees or inside sprays. Garlands and wreaths and bunches of Cedar boughs will give you the evergreen aroma in your decoration.

Hal Armor opens the lot at 10:00 in the morning and closes at 8:00 o'clock in the evening when he shoos out the last customer. His brother Kiwanians and Lions Club members stand two-hour watches on the lot. The profits will continue grading and begin planting of the Carmel High School baseball field. This will provide both hard and softball diamonds and will be available to the community as well as students.

The silver tips are all the same genus, Abies magnifica, according to Deputy State Forester Lewis Moran and Associate Ranger Fred Keast, who visited the lot yesterday. There are eight or more variations of foliage and formation for your selection, depending upon their soil and growth conditions, these trees will not grow below 6,000 feet altitude. Most of those in the lot are the tops of 30 to 50-foot trees felled at from 7,000 to 9,000-foot elevations. They are conifers, mature trees bearing six to 10-inch cones, growing 125 to 200 feet tall and living over 200 years.

Trees are moving fast at the lot, especially the one and two-footers. Come and let the experts help you select your big or little beauty.
